Consultant with focus on Pension and Compensation 100%

📍 Zürich

👛 Tax & Legal

🕒 asap or upon agreement

Your tasks

- You prepare actuarial and technical analyses of benefit and compensation plans, including benefit levels, benchmarking and valuation.
- You calculate pension and other long-term benefit plans under IFRS and US GAAP, performing actuarial valuations and preparing support reconciliations and reports and contributing to the development of tools and approaches.
- You support transactions for Swiss and international deals by reviewing data on target business, analysing compensation and benefit (including pension) plan information and by supporting the preparation of reports.
- You support compensation and benefit consulting by preparing materials to help clients understand options and opportunities with the compensation and benefit plans.
- You support PwC audit teams, technical experts and junior actuaries by reviewing compensation and benefit information reflected in company financial statements and by preparing audit conclusions, including reviewing actuarial valuations.
- You will develop your technical expertise and soft skills through training both on and off the job.

Your profile

- You have a degree in actuarial science or a focus on mathematics
- If you have first experience of pension or other long-term benefit plan valuations this is an advantage.
- You have excellent Microsoft Excel skills (ProVal, other benefit valuation software experience or familiarity with visualization tools (such as PowerBI) is a bonus)
- If you have already gained some knowledge of international accounting standards and understand how employee benefits are accounted for by companies, this is an advantage.
- You pay attention to detail and quality and demonstrate initiative to learn new skills.
- You are open and curious and take opportunities also outside your main area.
- You are comfortable working in German and English.
