

About Amphiro AG

Amphiro is a young, successful IoT and Cleantech company. Our technology brings drinking water faucets into the Internet, enabling a wide range of digital services in the fields of energy, health and process automation through data analytics. With over 55,000 installations in Europe, Asia and Australia, we are the technology and market leader in the areas of energy-autarkic sensors and cloud connectivity for faucets. Together with our strong partner, the Hansa/Oras Group, we are expanding our digital services.
